

THE TORIES ARE THE CRISIS

For years the Tories have ruled on the promise that they will “solve” the endless Brexit crisis. Now it’s clear that their rule is the crisis – we stop them now, or suffer the consequences.

NO. TORY. BREXIT.

The vote to leave the EU does not give a mandate for the disaster capitalism Boris Johnson plans: massive privatisations, attacks on education, pushing yet more racism and bigotry, slashing workers’ rights, slashing safety and environmental standards, letting Trump savage the NHS – the list goes on.

There is no limit to the Tories’ ruthlessness, and no moral principle or democratic safeguard can stop them – our joint power and initiative is the only thing that can shut them down.

While trying to show strength, Johnson is also showing his own side’s weakness and division. With the Scottish Tory leader resigning and even the Financial Times now preferring a Corbyn government, the Tories are teetering on the brink – but they won’t fall without our help.

WHAT WE NEED TO DO

Johnson’s plan would bring misery to the vast majority of people, however they voted in June 2016. A big majority oppose his onslaught on democracy. Together, a mass campaign on the streets and in workplaces can win. But blocking “No Deal” isn’t enough – any “deal” cut by Johnson will be almost as bad. We need to:

- Block any Brexit run by the Tories
- Bring down their government
- Force a General Election

HOW TO TAKE THEM DOWN

Johnson’s power-grab can only be stopped by mass resistance, not legal challenges. Puerto Rico, Sudan and Hong Kong have shown the way. Parliament must be reopened, not because the Tories respect the courts or the broadsheet media, but because they fear the mass movement growing against them.

Here’s what we need to do:

- Join the demonstrations.
- Occupy: public places, schools and universities, Tory Party buildings and constituency offices – all these can stay shut as long as Parliament does.
- Make our solidarity with migrants clear – show the government that we will stand by our friends, colleagues and neighbours.
- Demand our trade unions mobilise their members to oppose the coup (those who aren’t in a union can join online – those not in work can join Unite Community).
- Raise the urgency of stopping the coup in all campaigns and activist groups – there will be no progress on any front until Johnson goes.
- Build the demo to shut down Tory conference in Manchester on Sunday 29 September. Unions must support it and provide transport.
