

UNITE AND ESCALATE

THE TORIES ARE WAGING CLASS WAR

The government is protecting employers while real wages are cut. They will try to scapegoat everyone from migrants to benefit claimants and trans people to trade unionists. Unity is our best response!

DEFEND THE RIGHT TO STRIKE & PROTEST

Fight the Minimum Service Levels Bill, fight the Public Order Bill, fight the National Security Bill. Fight all repression! Fight alongside climate and Palestine activists, black and migrant communities in struggle against racist policing and borders, and renters in struggle against rampant rent hikes and evictions.

REBUILD RANK-AND-FILE SOLIDARITY

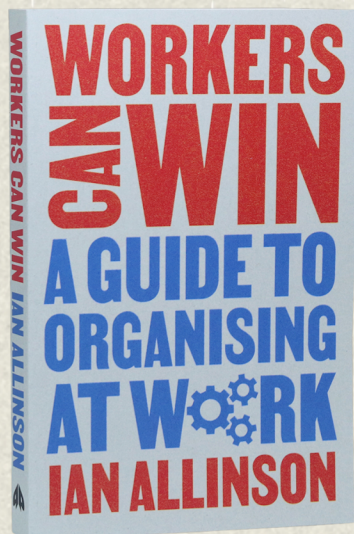

The real strength of unions is in workplaces - national structures are important but anti-strike laws can make them a weak point. The new Act may force more workers to choose between ineffective action or breaking the law. It will put pressure on officials to police rank-and-file members. Successful resistance will depend on workers standing together across unions.

STRIKE HARD, STRIKE TOGETHER

Striking together is one of the best weapons we've got. Every strike should seek to coordinate action. Joint rallies and marches help maximise the benefit. Talk to your workmates about escalation and co-ordination. Talk about more strike days and all-out strikes. Organise solidarity collections and fundraisers at work, in communities, and in the streets.

'Workers can't rely on getting all the information and advice we need from reps training. I wish I'd read this book five years ago. Every rep, and anyone interested in getting involved in a union should have a copy.'

Gary Walker, UNITE Rep at CHEP Trafford Park

'This book is just brilliant. It is not only packed full of invaluable advice and practical tips for anybody organising in the workplace, it is hopeful. Crucially it offers an accessible political analysis of why it is so important for working class people to build power in the workplace and beyond, demystifying the process as it goes. What a resource!'

Laura Pidcock, National Secretary, The People's Assembly

TROUBLEMAKERS AT WORK 2023

Grassroots trade unionists conference

Saturday 29 July 2023, Friends Meeting House Manchester

troublemakersat.work

We need to bring together workers who have won improvements at work, taken strike action, and transformed weak unions into a strong voice for workers. Our event has a rank-and-file orientation: the labour movement is built and owned by the workers in it, not the paid officials or leaderships of unions. Join this event if you want to: win a pay rise, change something about your work, start a union at work, or kickstart an existing union at work!
